Torch Bearer of SDGs

"We do not inherit the Earth from our ancestors , we borrow it from our children "

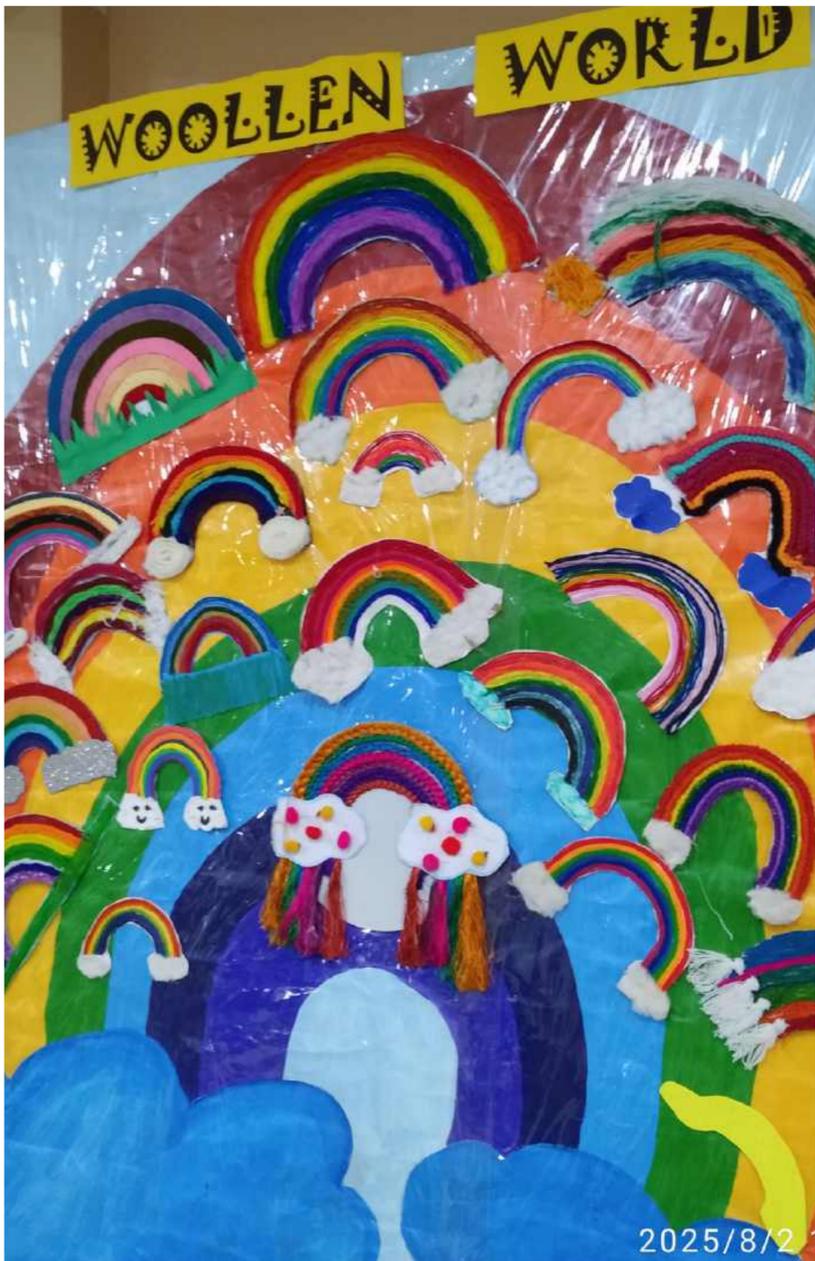

Namaskar

With boundless enthusiasm, we present the second edition of NISHCHAY, our SDG focused e-magazine championing Sustainable Development Goals. Our students continue to embody these goals with remarkable zeal. Dynamix 2025: Where Creativity Meets Curiosity, ignited innovative solutions through a vibrant science exhibition. Van Mahotsav , in collaboration with the City Mayor, DEO and local administration, celebrated environmental stewardship with tree planting. The Rakhi Workshop wove bonds of unity, while From Quit India to Harmony with Japan and One Organ, Many Lives inspired peace and awareness. Independence Day's tricolor celebrations and Janmashtami: Krishna's Flute of Equality filled the month with festivity.

We concluded with a resolute pledge to sustainability, committing to nurture these values. Together, let's weave a brighter, sustainable future, thread by thread.

Dynamix 2025 : Where Creativity Meets Curiosity

One of the most eye-catching spots of our school exhibition was the Art Corner. Toys shaped from clay soil, bright rainbows woven from wool and many imaginative crafts made out of waste captured everyone's attention. This corner also reflected our commitment to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by promoting recycling, responsible use of resources and creative rethinking of waste, proving that art and sustainability go hand in hand.

The models presented by Class 10 students on the theme “Global Goals, Local Impacts” were a true highlight of the exhibition. Each model beautifully explained how the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are not just global targets but also connected to our daily lives. From clean energy solutions to ideas for reducing inequalities and protecting the environment, students showed how small local actions can create a big difference. Their work inspired everyone to think globally but act responsibly at the local level.

Celebrating Van Mahotsav

In our journey towards achieving the Sustainable Development Goals our school had the proud opportunity to host a special event for celebrating Van Mahotsav showcasing our ongoing efforts under the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The event was graced by the presence of the Mayor Smt. Suman Bahmani , the District Education Officer Sh. Dharmendra Chaudhary who visited our campus to witness the progress firsthand.

They explored various exhibits and plantation drives led by our students, reflecting the themes of sustainability, environmental care and community responsibility. The guests expressed their appreciation for how actively and creatively the school is integrating SDGs into everyday learning and activities.

This visit not only brought recognition to our initiatives but also inspired everyone to stay committed to protecting and preserving our environment not just during Van Mahotsav, but all year round.

Students Voices: August Reflections

The August activities helped us connect festivals, national events, and creative tasks with Sustainable Development Goals in an enjoyable way.

Creative activities like rakhi making added a personal touch, helping us connect tradition with sustainable practices.

We gained knowledge about equality, peace, justice, environment, and health in ways that were interactive and easy to understand.

Students felt more confident in expressing their ideas through essays, quizzes, and group tasks, which also improved teamwork.

Overall, the August activities built our confidence, improved teamwork, and made learning about SDGs both fun and meaningful.
